Vandals see off sensory garden

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

VANDALS have forced a council to scrap a sensory garden just four months after it was set up in a public park.

Plants have been regularly uprooted and decorative stones scattered at the garden, which is part of Newmarket's Memorial Hall Gardens.

Earlier this year a children's sunflower growing contest was ruined when the plants were pulled up within days of being planted.

Now Newmarket Town Council is considering replacing the four beds in the garden.

One suggestion is to replace the garden with a youth shelter. But Cllr Bill Burch, who chairs the council's leisure services committee, said he was opposed to the idea.

Cllr Burch said: "The garden has been vandalised so many times we can't keep anything there. We're fighting a losing battle."

"It's a shame. I would like to see some seats there for people. But a youth shelter? No way."

Two copper wind chimes and copper toadstools have been stolen from the garden.

Theft fails to spoil 10th anniversary

LEAD thieves failed to spoil celebrations of a dental practice's 10th anniversary. The event at Newmarket's Terrace Dental Centre went ahead with an open house day just after thieves damaged the roof when they stole lead from the historic building. Dr Sonal Patel, from the centre, said: "We were determined nothing was going to spoil our anniversary and we've been touched by the support we've received from our patients." Eight-year-old Amelia Everett Green and her seven-year-old brother Lucas cut a ceremonial ribbon as Dr Patel welcomed guests and patients from all over the area to view the practice's state-of-the-art technology and the completion of the refurbishment of the premises. ■ Lead thieves strike again – Page 9.

Teenager bailed on suspicion of assault

A YOUTH was arrested on suspicion of assault causing actual bodily harm after an incident on Newmarket's Market Square. The victim, a man in his 20s, was punched and kicked in the incident which happened at around 2.10pm on Saturday. He was treated by a paramedic who was called to the scene. A 17-year-old youth was arrested shortly afterwards and questioned by police. He has since been released on bail to return to Bury St Edmunds police station on August 20. Police have asked for anyone who witnessed the incident, which happened while there were still market stalls on the square, near Wellington Street. Anyone with information should call the police on (01284) 774100.

Newest jets fly in FOUR of the latest American fighter jets have arrived at the Lakenheath US Air Force base for displays at air shows. The F-22 Raptors are due to be in Britain for two weeks for appearances at the Royal International Air Tattoo at Fairford between tomorrow and Sunday and the Farnborough International Air Show on Monday and Tuesday. The aircraft, with a support team in a C-17 Globemaster III transport plane, arrived at Lakenheath on Monday.

TV goes in burglary

A BURGLAR got away with a television, a laptop computer and two Playstation 3 games systems after breaking into a house. A window was forced at the house in Aspen Way, Red Lodge, between 7.40am and 12.20pm on Monday. Jewellery together with a watch and a camera was also stolen. Anyone with information should call Det Con Rachel Francis at West Suffolk CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Plans to extend beer garden use opposed

OBJECTIONS have been lodged against a late-licence bar's bid to be able to use its beer garden after 11pm.

People living near the White Hart Hotel in Newmarket High Street are opposing the application to extend the use of the beer garden to midnight on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturday.

They have complained about noise, people being sick or urinating near their homes, fights and rubbish including broken glass.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

Keith Mumford, of Forest Heath District Council's environmental services, has also lodged an objection on noise grounds.

But Michelle Hazlewood, a solicitor acting for Marston's, the owners of the White Hart, has argued that the beer garden should be opened after 11pm to stop drinkers standing in the High Street. She said there was currently a risk of public nuisance or disorder caused by people standing outside the bar to smoke.

The White Hart currently has a drinks licence to 2am on Friday and Saturday nights and 1.30am on Thursdays with closing half an hour later.

Mathilde Texier, who lives nearby, is one of two residents to have objected. She said, in a letter to the council's Licensing Act Sub-Committee, that the noise from people using the beer garden patio prevented her from hearing her television.

She said: "Extending drinking hours in Newmarket, whether outdoor or indoors, is a step backward as it only promotes binge drinking and anti-social behaviour."

She said: "We need to improve this town not make it worse."

Another resident, Janice Cohen, said extending the opening hours of the garden area at the White Hart would only "extend the misery further into already disturbed nights".

The sub-committee is due to consider Marston's application at a meeting on Monday.

Ideas to replace vandalised sensory site

■ From Page 1

Vicky Bright, assistant to the town clerk, said in a report to the leisure services committee, that some of the damage had been caused by youngsters who practise Parkour – free-running.

She said that parents did not encourage their children to treat the garden with respect.

She said it was too costly to keep replacing the plants and accessories.

But covering the area with tarmac would cost nearly £2,000 and block paving would cost nearly £3,000

Warning signs and a fence around the garden would be unlikely to deter vandals.

She said a youth shelter, which would cost more than £5,000, would be likely to attract grant funding.

Other ideas included installing seats at a cost of nearly £400 or installing a raised cast iron plant container at a cost of around £1,000.

Cllr Burch said the issue would be referred to the full council meeting on Monday, July 26, when it would be suggested that the area was paved with a seat or seats and a plant container.

The sensory garden was established by volunteers from the Foley House youth club and Newmarket in Bloom as part of a £62,000 revamp of the play equipment in the gardens earlier this year.

All the cash for the project came from grants.

Wife says no-one is to blame for tragedy

Sad loss: Philip Whiting.

THE wife of a man believed to have been crushed to death by a cow has said she does not blame anyone, or the animal, for the tragedy.

Sue Whiting, whose husband Philip – known as Pip – died while helping out on a friend's farm, said: "There's no blame to be laid at anyone's door.

"The only ones who know what happened are Pip and the cow. The rest is just speculation."

Mr Whiting, 47, was initially thought to have been trampled by cows as he helped get them in at Leechmere Farm, Fordham, on Saturday, July 3.

But Mrs Whiting said after speaking to the coroner she believed a single cow had fallen on him and had caused further injuries as it struggled to get up.

She said Malcolm and Lynn Palmer, who own the farm, were good friends and had been horrified by what happened.

"Lynn found him and stayed with him the whole time," said Mrs Whiting, of Heath Farm Road, Red Lodge.

Mrs Whiting, who was away with her son Luke, 20, said: "We were on holiday in Greece at the time and we only found out when we came home.

"It's such a terrible shock. It was milking time and he went to get the cows. The cows came back, but he didn't."

Mr Whiting, a former mechanic who was an instructor at Cambridge Regional College's motor vehicle department, stored old vehicles at the farm and had known the Palmers for about 18 years.

Mrs Whiting said: "He helped out with the milking and he loved the cows. He used to call them his girls.

"I want to thank everyone for all their helpful messages, especially Malcolm and Lynn. So many people knew him."

Mr Whiting, originally from Sawston, worked at various garages throughout the region, including Marshall's, before gaining employment at CRC.

He was a keen motor-racing fan and also raced in autograss events, first in a Mini and later in a Vauxhall Nova. Mrs Whiting was also an autograss racer.

They moved to Red Lodge after they were married in 1983.

Their son had just graduated with a degree in physics at Robinson College, Cambridge.

"Pip was so proud of him," said Mrs Whiting.

Colleagues at Cambridge Regional College, in King's Hedges Road, spoke of their shock at Mr Whiting's death.

Alan Ward, head of the college's engineering academy, said: "Philip had worked at the college for two-and-a-half years and was an instructor in the motor vehicle department. He was popular and hard-working and a great member of the team. He will be very much missed.

"We are deeply shocked to hear of Philip's death and our thoughts and sympathies are with his family."

An inquest into Mr Whiting's death was opened last week at Wisbech.

Mr Whiting's funeral is due to take place on Tuesday, July 20, at West Suffolk Crematorium, Bury St Edmunds at 11.15am.

His family have requested donations to the East Anglian Air Ambulance instead of flowers.

Teenager indecently assaulted

A GIRL in her early teens was left shocked and frightened after a man indecently assaulted her as she unlocked her bicycle outside a shopping centre.

The girl was unhurt in the incident in which she was grabbed from behind while she was getting her bike at the front of Newmarket's Guineas centre.

Police said the girl pushed the man away after he grabbed hold of her waist.

He was a white man in his 40s, about 6ft tall and of muscular build.

He had a wrinkled face with stubble and was wearing a black hooded top and black jeans.

The girl told officers he smelled of tobacco.

Anyone with information about the incident, which happened between 5.30pm and 6pm on Wednesday, July 7, should call Pc Adam Fitzgibbons at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Enterprising students face team of 'dragons'

TEENAGE students took part in a Junior Apprentice-style event to help promote their local leisure centre.

Six teams of Year 9 students from Newmarket College presented their ideas to a team of "dragons" and although a winning team was selected they will not be announced until September.

The event was organised for Suffolk County Council and Anglia Community Leisure by Andrew Manig, a company director and business adviser.

The teams had been selected from an earlier event in which all Year 9 youngsters at the college took part.

They were given the task of organising an event to help promote the £14 million leisure centre to encourage more people to use the facilities.

The winning team will have the chance of putting on the event they have planned.

The "dragons" were Paul

Nicholls, extended schools county co-ordinator, Tony Bass, chief executive of Anglia Community Leisure, Sureya Landini, managing director of Blue Donkey marketing, Sergi Jarques, customer insight manager of East of England Tourism, and Andrew Rice, retail branch manager of HSBC Bank, Newmarket.

School projects cost £200k

A SCHOOL is celebrating the completion of two projects which cost more than £200,000 in total.

A new building for the pre-school and after school club at Newmarket's All Saint Primary School has now come into use.

It houses the Wacky Snacky Club which provides activities before and after school for children as well as the All Saints Under Fives nursery.

The building, financed by Suffolk County Council, replaces an old portable building. It cost around £200,000.

Jane Eccleston, the head of All Saints, said: "They will be able to grow more now they have this new facility."

At the same time a new seaside-themed garden had been created on waste ground which used to be part of the school's swimming pool.

The school managed to get a £4,000 grant from the RBS bank's Supergrounds scheme after an application was lodged by parent Claire Long.

Each child painted a pebble for the new garden. The pupils also created paper flowers for the garden.

"It has transformed a corner that was just wasted ground," she said.

The school's PTA is paying for a play house like a beach hut for the garden.

'Disappointed' town councillor resigns

Three years in office: Bob Cole, who has resigned.

A TOWN councillor has resigned after just three years in office.

A vacancy on Newmarket Town Council is due to be advertised after the resignation of Bob Cole, who represented the town's Studlands Park ward.

Mr Cole, 66, who lives on the Studlands Park estate, would not comment on the reasons for his resignation when contacted by the Weekly News.

He said: "I would rather not say why I've resigned. If the council wish to release a statement that's up to them."

"I feel disappointed. I've done my best for the estate."

It is understood that his resignation is linked with the mystery over the non-attendance at meetings for more than a year by Cllr Jonathan Richer, the council's other representative of the Studlands Park ward.

Cllr Richer, 38, who lives in Rous Road, Newmarket, was cleared of breaching the council's code of conduct earlier this year.

He had faced a complaint about bullying, intimidation and bringing the council into disrepute. But the complaint was rejected after an investigation.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

His continued absence has been surrounded by mystery.

The town council has refused to release details of meetings at which the issue was discussed – despite an application by the Weekly News under the Freedom of Information Act.

Cllr Richer has said he cannot comment on the reasons for his absence due to confidentiality issues. But he said he would attend the next full meeting of the council on Monday, July 26.

Isabelle Barrett, the town clerk, said that the mayor, Cllr Mick Jefferys, would announce Mr Cole's resignation at the meeting.

The council will have to advertise a vacancy, which it could fill by co-option, because the resignation was more than six months before the next council elections in May of next year.

Cllr Richer and Mr Cole were co-opted onto the council after insufficient candidates came forward to fill all the seats at the last election in 2007.

Fixtures list delay 'could cost jobs'

A LEADING race-horse trainer has warned of possible redundancies and stable closures due to delay in the publication of the 2011 racing fixtures list.

A dramatic drop in income from the Horseracing Betting Levy has led the British Horseracing Authority (BHA) to delay the publication of the fixtures.

Mark Tompkins, who chairs Newmarket Trainers' Federation, said: "This delay will make life increasingly difficult for trainers who are already feeling the effects of the significant drop in prize money."

"This has a knock-on effect which will impact on everyone connected with the industry."

"Staff redundancies will increase and trainers will be forced out of business."

"This lack of funding must be addressed as quickly as possible and the betting industry must be made aware of the damage the delay is causing."

Paul Fisher, chief operating officer of Jockey Club Racecourses which own and manage Newmarket and Huntingdon racecourses, said: "Racecourses are businesses like any other, and it is important for us to have certainty over fixtures and funding to plan our race days and events. We make a major contribution to local jobs, tourism and growth and that is important to communities in these difficult economic times."

Nic Coward, chief executive of the BHA, said: "The BHA has been left with no choice but to delay the publication of the fixture list in the face of the current uncertainty."

"This is massively frustrating, particularly as in many ways the sport's hard work to prepare for and beat off the worst of the recession is going to plan."

"The Levy underpins the fixture list, tens of thousands of people depend on it for their livelihoods and this year we are facing a catastrophic cut in income. It is not fair and not right that the people working in racing should suffer as a result of the majority of the betting industry looking to bypass the Levy in order to maximise their own profits."

The Levy income has dropped to £76.5 million from £115.3 million over the past two years.

The BHA has said that loopholes in the system are being exploited by bookmakers moving and basing their businesses offshore.

Free swimming scheme set to end

FREE swimming for over 60s and under 17s will end this month after the government withdrew support for the scheme.

The two-year scheme was due to run to at least next March.

Now Anglia Community Leisure, which runs the pools at Newmarket and Mildenhall, has announced a £1 swimming deal for under 17s – less than half the normal price of £2.10.

There is also a new loyalty card scheme which entitles people of all ages to a free swim after getting five stamps.

Tony Bass, chief executive for Anglia Community Leisure, said: "We will be offering £1 swims for the under 17s and a new summer swim loyalty card to offer everyone who swims on five occasions to get the next one free."

"We already offer generous discounts for over 60s and those on benefits so we hope everyone will take advantage of the new deals."

US fighter pilot dies after Bible session

A YOUNG American fighter pilot died after collapsing at a Bible study session in Cambridge.

Captain Samuel Robertson, 26, who was based at Lakenheath and lived in the city died after being taken to Addenbrooke's Hospital.

He flew single-seat F-15C Eagle jets as a member of the base's 493rd Fighter Squadron. He had been based at Lakenheath for 13 months.

He was taken to hospital at about 9pm last Wednesday after collapsing at the Bible study session.

A spokeswoman for the East of England Ambulance service said paramedics were called to an address in Howard Close just after 9.15pm after a report of a man aged approximately 25 with breathing difficulties and cardiac arrest.

She said that resuscitation techniques were used and he was taken to hospital under blue light conditions.

A statement from the base

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: weeklies@cambridge-news.co.uk said he was certified dead at about 10.45pm.

Colonel John Quintas, commander of the base's 48th Fighter Wing, said: "Our heartfelt condolences go out to Captain Robertson's family, friends and co-workers."

"He was a loving husband, a great friend and an outstanding wingman."

"His loss will be felt across our Air Force family."

"The Liberty Wing will provide untiring support and assistance to his family during this difficult time."

Capt Robertson was married but had no children. He was originally from Fulton, Missouri.

A memorial service was held at the base on Tuesday.

The 48th Fighter Wing has one squadron of F-15C Eagle fighters and two squadrons of two-seat F-15E Strike Eagles.

Outstanding wingman: Captain Samuel Robertson who died at Addenbrooke's Hospital.

Jail term cut on appeal

APPEAL court judges have reduced the sentence given to a former company boss for indecently assaulting two girls.

James Ratcliffe, 68, who previously ran a racehorse transport business based in the Newmarket area, was jailed for three and a half years at Ipswich Crown Court earlier this year.

Now the Court of Appeal in London has agreed to reduce his sentence by six months.

Ratcliffe, of Lacey's Lane, Exning, had denied 10 charges of indecent assault. But he was convicted of six of them after a Crown court trial.

At the trial, the jury heard he had indecently touched the girls, who were approaching their teens, around 10 years ago.

The assaults were said to have continued over two to three years.

Ratcliffe's lawyers argued that the sentence passed by Judge John Devaux at Crown court was excessive and had been passed on the basis that one of the assaults was more serious than it actually was.

Giving the judgment at the Appeal Court, Judge Michael Stokes, QC, said: "We have come to the conclusion that it would be just in this case to allow the appeal and substitute for the sentence of three-and-a-half years a sentence of three years' imprisonment."

Ratcliffe will spend half of his new three-year term behind bars before being released into the community on licence.

At Crown court it was said that Ratcliffe had been forced to give up his business because of the case and was facing financial ruin.

Farmers get safety tips from experts

AROUND 300 farmers attended a safety event last week, just a mile from a farm where a man died.

Philip Whiting, 47, is believed to have been trampled while getting cows in at Leechmere Farm, Fordham.

By coincidence, the Health and Safety Executive had pre-planned a Safety and Health Awareness Day at the nearby Chippenham Park Estate.

Farmers from across Cambridgeshire and Suffolk were shown at the invitation-only event how accidents could occur.

Qualified instructors showed how accidents such as falls from height could happen as well as incidents involving machinery and chemicals.

The HSE said farming is one of the most dangerous occupations with 45 people killed in agricultural accidents in 2009/10 and 1,500 people seriously injured.

David Head, principal inspector of health and safety, said: "These demonstrations are designed to show just how easily accidents can happen."

"They give farmers a clear message about the precautions they need to take to help protect themselves, their families and employees from harm."

Those attending were given a copy of Farmwise, the HSE's comprehensive guidance booklet, with a self-assessment CD and a selection of other relevant HSE guidance leaflets.

First past the post: one of the winners was Carenza Stickland, 4, who won the four-year-old fillies race.

Youngsters go to the 'races'

A NEWMARKET nursery school's sports day was run like a race meeting with hobby horses and the children in jockey silks.

The Colourbox Montessori school's event even had an overall sponsor in Cecil and Larter's Bury St Edmunds-based car dealership and individual parents sponsored races.

Sandra Copping, one of the teachers, said: "The idea developed out of the children's interest in horse racing. They see the horses going out to exercise on their way to school and we had a visit to the National Horseracing Museum where they were able to ride the horse simulator and wear the silks."

"We've also had artist Jacques Jones in paint horses."

She said the children's committee at the school supported the idea.

Children from the ages of one to four took part in the races while mums and dads ran in mares and stallions races.

Mrs Copping said: "The children really enjoyed it and are still playing it now."

What about the Wicken wildlife?

Sir, Notwithstanding Peter Green's support for the National Trust and its so-called "Wicken Vision", I am with Anthony Day, a knowledgeable native of Wicken, regarding the latest news of the trust's activities and I wonder if the world – or at least our part of it – is going completely crazy. Those of us who live near what was once a quiet national nature reserve are no longer surprised at anything. Indeed, I see in the latest issue of Around and About, Wicken's splendid village magazine, that the trust lists attractions such as Midsummer Boat Trip and Barbecue, Safari and Supper, and Fairies, Pixies and Trolls. Where, may I ask, is the local wildlife to hide while all this nonsense and noise is going on?

George Henry Verrall (1848-1911), the Newmarket-based Conservative MP and National Trust benefactor, would turn in his grave if he knew what was happening at this formerly peaceful place that he loved so much.

Of course, all of these Alton Towers-type money-making activities might now be needed to pay the £46,000 per annum salary of the recently-advertised (in The Guardian) post of general manager for Wicken Fen and Anglesey Abbey.

The late Lord Fairhaven (1896-1966), of Anglesey Abbey, would turn in his grave, too, if he knew what was happening.

Challenge for Julie Spence

Sir, Recently, Chief Constable Julie Spence along with other chiefs, met up with Scotland Yard Assistant Commissioner John Yates at a secret session. It was to discuss "eye-watering" cuts of 25 per cent imposed by our new Government.

The Assistant Commissioner warned that Al Qaeda-linked terrorists in the UK would exploit this situation, namely the large reduction in staff and front-line services, including surveillance teams monitoring suspects. Pretty scary stuff.

We know Julie has been pressing for extra officers for several years so how will she comply?

Well, she certainly can't pull her "speed camera" operators off the streets and retrain them in anti-terrorist activities.

After all, saving hundreds of lives a year in Cambridge from ordinary everyday motorists going about their business is far more important than saving us from terrorists and suchlike people. Surely, anyone can see that, can't they?

Activities will include table cricket, weight lifting and power lifting, Boccia, wheelchair tennis, basketball and goalball.

There will also be the chance to take a tour of the fitness studio and to take part in the Disability Swimming Festival later in the afternoon. Entry in the swimming festival is free but participants must register by Monday.

Keiran Williams, community sports leader for Anglia Community Leisure, said: "Newmarket Leisure Centre is a state-of-the-art multi-million pound facility which is full of features to make it more accessible.

"With the London 2012 Paralympics high on everyone's agenda, there's never been a better time to get involved with disability sport and this open day will be a spectacular show case for what's on offer in the East of England."

Villagers meet over travellers' site plan

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

VILLAGERS worried about proposals for an official travellers' site packed a public meeting on Tuesday night.

Around 250 people filled the village hall at Swaffham Prior and some had to stand outside and listen to the discussion through loud-speakers.

They have set up a fighting fund to get professional advice to oppose proposals for up to 18 caravans on land east of Goodwin Farm in Heath Road, Swaffham Prior.

The proposal is part of East Cambridgeshire District Council's site allocations options as part of the council's local development framework.

The site, owned by Cambridgeshire County Council, is included in a list of nine which could provide a total of 38 pitches – each capable of taking three caravans.

The district council's site allocations options report says there is a minimum requirement of 54 pitches in the period to 2025.

Packed: villagers meet to discuss proposals for an official travellers' site for up to 18 caravans.

CP

But Cllr Allen Alderson, who represents the Swaffhams on the district council, said: "I'll be fighting this. There is a great strength of feeling about this."

David Greenfield, who acted as independent chairman of the meeting, said a clear majority of people opposed the plans.

He said they had decided on a co-ordinated approach to ensure that everybody had a chance to comment on the proposals before the council's closing date of August 16 as well as employing a professional consultant to argue the case against the scheme.

Martin Mead, who runs a building and groundworks business based in Heath Road, said: "These sites have a reputation of becoming a 'no go' area and we would have to go past it every day."

There are currently three official sites in the district – one at Burwell with eight pitches, another at Earith Bridge with 13 pitches and one at Wentworth, near Ely with eight pitches.

Two other sites are proposed in Isleham Road, Fordham, and Newmarket Road, Bottisham.

School on alert after teen attack

SECURITY has been tightened up at a village school after a knife-wielding teenager attacked a pupil.

The youth, described as 14 years old, was reported to have been riding around Bottisham Village College's playgrounds on a BMX bike carrying a flick-knife.

He assaulted the boy outside the school's drama block at about 2.12pm on Tuesday last week.

Riding the bike and wearing a black hoodie and jeans, the youth is said to have head-butted a 13-year-old pupil before making off.

Several police vehicles were called to the secondary school, which has more than 1,000 pupils.

A police community support officer has been drafted in to stand at the front of Bottisham Village College and staff have been "extra vigilant" after the incident.

A spokesman for Cambridgeshire County Council, said: "A group of children in the swimming pool were kept there for a few minutes until the incident had been dealt with."

One pupil told the Weekly News: "There was this guy running around the school with a knife."

"He head-butted a pupil from Year 8 whose face was covered in blood."

"He was treated in the school infirmary. The teachers were all in a line to rush everyone on to the buses at 3pm. It was pretty scary stuff."

"There were loads of police all over the school. Everyone is talking about it and there are loads of comments on Facebook."

School principal Kate Evans has written to parents of pupils at the school, reassuring them and explaining the situation.

She told parents: "Since then, we have been extra vigilant around the site and a police community support officer has joined our duty team at the front of the school during lunchtime."

"The students are to be commended for maintaining a calm and purposeful atmosphere both in and out of lessons and, rest assured, we will continue to be vigilant and supportive of them."

Three hurt in head-on crash

THREE people were injured in head-on crash between two cars which closed a road for nearly five hours.

The two cars, a green BMW and a blue Honda Civic, ended up around 300 yards apart after the smash on the A1065 near the Lakenheath US Air Force base. Firefighters used cutting equipment to free the injured people after the smash which happened at around 6.30pm on Sunday.

An emergency medical team from Magpas Helimedix at RAF Wyton attended the scene in their rapid response vehicle.

A spokeswoman said that six patients were assessed at the scene. They treated a 21-year-old man and travelled with him to Addenbrooke's Hospital in the ambulance. He was said to have been in a serious condition.

Two other people were taken to West Suffolk Hospital, Bury St Edmunds.

A third car is believed to have been involved in the crash. The road was closed until 11.15pm.

Driver's drug caution

A MAN has been bailed on suspicion of drink driving and cautioned for possession of cannabis. At around 12.30am on Saturday, a 27-year-old Eastern European man from Newmarket was spotted by police in Walden Road, Great Chesterford, and was arrested on suspicion of drink driving.

Police also found him to be in possession of a quantity of herbal cannabis, for which he received a caution. He has been bailed to appear at Braintree Police Station on August 17 in relation to the alleged drink driving offence.

Man on harm charge

A MAN has been charged with grievous bodily harm with intent following an incident outside a pub. The alleged victim suffered serious head and facial injuries in the incident on Valentine's Day, February 14, at a pub in Newmarket High Street. Dylan Houghton, 29, of Carter Street, Fordham, is due to face the charge at Bury St Edmunds magistrates' court tomorrow.

Farm raiders foiled twice

TRACTOR thieves were foiled when they were spotted driving the vehicle out of a farmyard.

The two men abandoned the tractor and drove off at speed in a white van.

The incident happened at Ousden, between 9.30pm and 10.30pm on Wednesday.

About half an hour later three men "of large build" were disturbed trying the break into stables in Mill Lane, Cowlinge.

They drove off in an estate car heading towards Great Bradley. Police are linking the two incidents.

Anyone with information should call Pc Jake Lees or Sgt Kevin Horton on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Celebration with circus

A VILLAGE school will celebrate its 20th anniversary with a circus show.

Pupils at Kettlefields primary school, between Dullingham and Stetchworth, can try their hands at circus skills with performers from Happy Circus who will put on a show at the school today.

"We decided to have something different to celebrate the anniversary," said Nicola Barrett, from the school's parent, teacher and friends organisation.

There will be a fundraising raffle and barbecue

The event is open to visitors and tickets, priced £28 for a family of four, £7.50 for individual adults and £5 concessions, are available at www.circustickets@btinternet.com

Children under three will be admitted free.

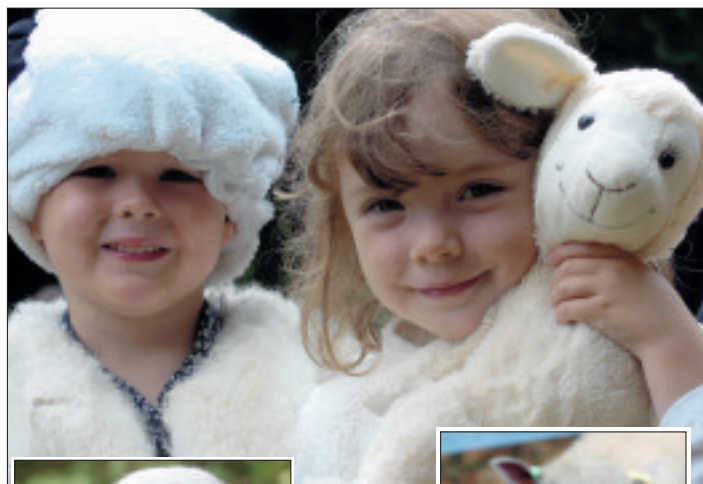

14 incidents for crews

FIREFIGHTERS from Newmarket were called to 14 incidents over the weekend.

They included undergrowth and stubble fires, a horsebox on fire on the A11 at Stump Cross, a road crash at Lakenheath, a car fire on the A14 and travelling to Lowestoft as a relief crew at a large factory fire.

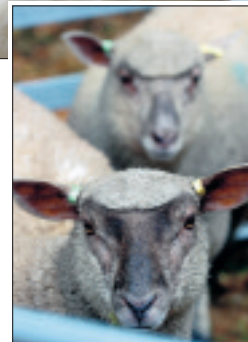

They also responded to a number of fire alarms where there was no fire. The heatwave prompted fire chiefs to issue warnings about increased risks and barbecue safety.

Residents have been warned to think about safety with barbecues, bonfires, cigarette butts and glass.

Sheep flock to teddy bears' picnic

REAL sheep made a cuddly addition at an annual Teddy Bears' picnic for children.

The three sheep were brought by a local farmer to the event in Burwell vicarage garden which marks the end of term for the monthly toddler services held in the village's St Mary's church.

Amanda Parton, one of the organisers of the event, said: "The sheep were very popular with the children and came with their own hand-washing station."

Around 60 children from the village and surrounding areas came to the picnic, including youngsters from the Red House day nursery and the Montessori school.

Some of the youngsters arrived dressed as sheep.

There were craft activities, singing, a story and a treasure hunt before the children enjoyed refreshments and a piece of cake.

Optimism over £10.9m home of racing plans

MORE than half the cash needed for a £10.9m project to create a major tourist attraction based on Newmarket's horseracing heritage has been pledged.

But a further £3 million is needed by next April to ensure that the Home of Horseracing project goes ahead.

The £5.5 million already promised towards the long-awaited scheme, based on the town's historic Palace House and Palace House Stables, includes more than £1.7 million in public money from Forest Heath District Council and Suffolk County Council.

Peter Jensen, who chairs the Home of Horseracing Trust, said on Friday: "I am more optimistic than I have ever been that we will raise the money and it will happen.

BY JOHN GOODE

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

"The economy and the market place are difficult at the moment, but I feel optimistic with the momentum we have got."

He said talks with "two or three" major potential backers was at an advanced stage.

The district council which owns the historic buildings, dating from the reign of King Charles II, is due to hand ownership to the trust next April – as long as funding for the scheme is assured.

The scheme includes moving the National Horseracing Museum into the stables from its current location in Newmarket High Street.

The Retraining of Racehorses charity is due to take over one of the stable yards where up to 15 horses could be stabled – and viewed by visitors.

The British Sporting Art Trust is due to take over Palace House mansion – the surviving part of King Charles's palace – to display priceless paintings currently held by London's Tate gallery.

Mr Jensen said it was hoped that the project would be completed by 2012. But he admitted the schedule was "tight".

The scheme has been under discussion for more than 10 years and Palace House stables have been empty since 1985.

Mr Jensen said the trust would welcome an arcade link from the High Street to the project – as long as it was independently financed and did not affect the security of the buildings used as part of the project.

Two proposals for an arcade from the High Street have been put forward.

Windmill on heritage 'at risk register'

A 19th century windmill in Burwell has been added to English Heritage's list of buildings at risk.

Stevens' Mill is one of the 10 Grade I and II* listed buildings in the East of England to be added to the 'at risk register' this year.

The windmill, situated by the Burwell Museum on Fen Edge, was built in the 1820s by the Stevens family. It was closed last autumn pending repair works, which experts say will cost about £100,000.

Greg Luton, the charity's regional director, said: "In the current uncertain climate, English Heritage has two vital contributions to make.

"First is our Heritage at Risk programme itself. It gives communities – local people, local authorities and the larger community of both official and voluntary heritage groups – accurate information about the condition of local neighbourhoods encouraging them to become actively involved in restoring what is precious to them.

"The second is our expertise and grants – where we can help to find solutions for problems and reassure that any public funding goes to the most needy and urgent cases."

Armed Forces Day: Newmarket air cadets on parade in Mildenhall.

Air cadets join special parade

AIR Cadets from the 2417 (Newmarket) Squadron took part in an Armed Forces Day parade in Mildenhall.

The parade, from the town centre to St Mary's Primary School, included a colour party from the US Air Force base nearby.

Similar ceremonies were held nationally to commemorate those who have died in Afghanistan and other more recent conflicts.

Flying Officer Keith Hicks, who commands the Newmarket Squadron, said: "The cadets and staff did a fantastic job representing the corps on this relatively new and important day."

Lead thieves strike again

LEAD thieves struck at town centre buildings in a spate of thefts to hit Newmarket. But the thieves are believed to have left empty-handed when lead stripped from buildings was found in a stairwell.

Damage was caused to the Guineas Shopping Centre and the Bushel pub in nearby Market Street when lead was stripped from roofs.

The lead removed from the centre was worth £3,000 and the value of the lead taken from the pub was £750.

These thefts were discovered at around 7am on Saturday. A further theft from the shopping centre was reported on Monday when lead worth £300 was stolen. These incidents happened just days after a previous theft of lead from the centre.

The thieves also struck at an office in the High Street and the Drill Hall in Rayes Lane. The value of the lead stolen was around £300. Anyone with information should call Pc Alexander Sagers at Mildenhall police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Flats raided

PROPERTY worth £600 was stolen from two flats.

Thieves forced doors at the flats in Sun Lane, Newmarket, between 5.55am and 11.15am last Wednesday and stole a laptop, a hard drive, cash, tobacco, a rucksack and aftershave.

Anyone with information should call Det Con Mike Chapman at West Suffolk CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Circus time

A CIRCUS performance will help raise money for a village swimming pool.

Happy's Circus will visit Burwell tomorrow in support of the community swimming pool in the village.

Tickets for the show, on the village college playing field starting at 6pm, are £7.50 for individuals and £27.50 for a family of four. They are available from Tina's shop in North Street or by calling Gill Plowman (01638) 744279.

Fete to raise funds

A VILLAGE fete will raise money for a hospice and the village church.

The fete and fun dog show will be held at Clare Farm, Stetchworth Road, Dullingham, from 2pm on Sunday. Money raised will go to St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds and the upkeep of the village church.

Knife-wielding addict spared jail sentence

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A DRUG user who approached a group of frightened teenagers in Newmarket carrying two knives has been spared prison.

Long-term drug user John Harden, 45, was told by Judge David Goodin when he appeared at Ipswich Crown Court that most cases of knife related crime resulted in immediate imprisonment.

But he said as Harden was making efforts to tackle his problems and the incident had been started by someone else, the six-month prison term he was imposing would be suspended for 12 months.

Harden, of Bishops Close, Haverhill, was told at the hearing on Monday last week: "Whether or not you go to prison will now be a matter for you."

A pre-sentence report said that Harden at one time had been receiving the area's largest prescription for the heroin substitute methadone as he battled his addiction. At the height of his addiction he had been spending between £200 and £300 a day on illegal drugs.

Harden pleaded guilty to possession of a bladed article in a public place and failing to surrender to custody.

The court was told that on May 16 last year, a group of young Polish teenagers had been sitting on a bench in Market Square, Newmarket, when they were approached by Harden's then girlfriend Nicola Osborne.

Osborne, who last month was jailed for 15 months after admitting affray in connection with the same incident, had mistakenly believed that one of the youngsters had stolen her mobile phone.

Prosecutor Michael Crimp said that as one girl phoned for police and an ambulance, the group saw Harden approach carrying two knives.

Mr Crimp said: "Whatever his intentions were it clearly caused some alarm. It was accepted by the prosecution that Harden had pushed both knives into the ground and had not used them to make any threats."

Harden had a large number of previous convictions for drug and theft offences but the last had been in 2005. He had been due to be sentenced with Osborne but failed to arrive at court that day after hearing of her jail term.

Katherine Moore, mitigating, said that Harden was not a habitual carrier of weapons and the offence had been entirely out of character.

Attempted rape charge

AN AMERICAN serviceman has appeared in court charged with attempted rape of a 21-year-old woman.

Justin May is alleged to have launched the attack, and a sexual assault, at a party on Williams Close, Ely, on March 21.

The 22-year-old, who is based at RAF Lakenheath, did not enter any pleas during the hearing at Cambridge Crown Court.

He will be back in court on September 17, and a trial has provisionally been arranged for January 24 next year.

Sun shines as town carnival parades to 'Save Our Planet'

SWELTERING heat is believed to have contributed to a reduced crowd at Newmarket Carnival.

Around 3,750 people attended the carnival events at the Rowley Mile racecourse after the parade – about half the record number at last year's event.

But organisers from the town council still said it was a "very successful day". The theme was "Save Our Planet" with seven floats in the parade along the High Street.

The winning float was entered by Churches Together in Newmarket and District with Newmarket Gym Club in second place. Third place was taken by the Rainbows.

Other floats in the parade were from the National Horseracing Museum, Royal British Legion, St Felix Middle School and the Foley House play bus.

Walking displays were given by the Hotshots majorettes, Jazzercise and Newmarket Lions.

Two clowns from Burwell also joined the parade to promote an event in aid of their community swimming pool.

Displays at the racecourse included demonstrations by the Hotshots, Newmarket School of Dance and a martial arts group.

The tug of war for the Weekly News trophy was won by Newmarket police women after a broad interpretation of the rules. Four adult teams and two children's teams took part.

Charity stalls raised money for a number of local organisations. The coin collection during the parade will go to Acorn House at Addenbrooke's Hospital which is run by the Sick Children's Trust. A total of £235 was raised which will be doubled with a donation from carnival funds.

On parade: Newmarket town centre had a wonderful carnival atmosphere at the weekend.

Dressed to impress: a festival of fashion was celebrated during Ladies' Day at Newmarket.

Fashion on parade for a host of glitzy ladies

IT was all about glamour and glitz at Ladies' Day at Newmarket racecourse.

Women in posh frocks flocked to the July racecourse in a fleet of stretch limousines as well as a horse-drawn carriage.

Racecourse chiefs reported that advance bookings for the day, part of the Champagne Lanson July Festival at the racecourse, were up on last year.

A fashion theme has run throughout the three-day festival which ended on Friday.

On the first day, when the crowd was up by 30 per cent on last year, Laura McClements, from Ipswich, received the award for best accessories. Top jockey Frankie Dettori presented the awards.

The prize is a helicopter flight from Norwich to Hintlesham Hall Hotel, near Ipswich, for a champagne dinner and overnight stay.

The runner-up was Susan Hall of Newmarket, who won a top package for four people in the Summer House Restaurant on the July course, including a champagne reception, four course lunch and afternoon tea. She also took home the "Bubbly Summer Collection" from Hotel Chocolat.

Third place went to Maria Cheslin, of Southampton.

Thursday's best dressed lady contest was won by Courteney Welland, of Buckhurst Hill, Essex.

Her prize was a £500 gift pack from the Grand Arcade in Cambridge, including beautiful pendants from Azendi and Swarovski, a £100 hat from John Lewis and a £50 voucher for the Sanctuary Spa. She also won a year's supply of champagne from the festival sponsors.

The runner-up was Michelle Foley, from Bingham, who won a £250 voucher to spend at the women's fashion retailer, Coast, which has a branch in the Grand Arcade.

Third place went to Fatham McCormack, from Southend, who won a table for four in the Summer House Restaurant on the July Course for a Summer Saturday in August, including a champagne reception, sumptuous four course lunch and afternoon tea.

Cambridge couple Tom Lohman and Gillian Brodie won a three-week cruise when they were chosen as the best dressed couple on final day of the Champagne Lanson July Festival at Newmarket racecourse.

They will take up their prize, given by Premier Travel, in September for the cruise to San Francisco via Madeira, St Lucia, Acapulco and the Panama Canal.

Second prize went to Craig and Julie Jarvis, from Bury St Edmunds, who will get to drive an Aston Martin for the day, courtesy of Aston Martin Cambridge.

Third prize went to Drew Martin and Lisa Tan, from Australia, who won a table for four people in the racecourse's Summer House Restaurant.

A total of 1,800 people entered the Fashion at the Festival contests over the three-day race meeting.

Latest Tattersalls sale nets £6.1m on almost 500 horses

Stable talk

In our weekly column, reporter JOHN GOODE takes a look behind the racing scene to bring you news from in and around the stables.

MORE than £6.1 million was spent at the latest racehorse sales in Newmarket.

Nearly 500 horses were sold at the four-day Tattersalls July Sale at an average price of more than £12,800.

A new record price for the sale was set when Business as Usual, owned by Paul Makin and trained in Newmarket by Michael Jarvis, sold for £483,000, beating the previous top price of £399,000.

Last year's July sale saw 438 horses sold for £5.8 million, but the average price was £13,300.

Edmond Mahony, Tattersalls chairman, said: "In the current economic climate any bloodstock sale that posts increases has to be viewed in a positive light.

"With a larger catalogue than last year we would have hoped to improve on the 2009 July Sale turnover, even allowing for a slight shortage of obvious quality, but it is a tribute to the enduring global appeal of the Tattersalls July Sale that the clearance rate has yet again reached 80 per cent and the key indicators of average and median have held up so well."

Sale? What's that then?

At You're Furnished, we don't have sales. There's no need. Our prices are consistently low all year round - up to half what you'd pay for the same furniture in high street stores. And always lower than their sale prices. Both of our warehouses have a huge range of leather and fabric sofas as well as dining and bedroom furniture in a huge variety of wood finishes. Selling high volumes and being located in modest buildings means huge cost savings for our customers.

Which is why, like us, they don't bother with sales.

Wonders of the world arrive for city celebration

EVERY summer for the past five years, the Heart of the World Festival has taken over Cambridge, bringing two weeks of music and culture from across the world.

Throughout July, everyone has the opportunity to celebrate the city's cultural diversity. Offering everything from Ghanaian trance music to Chinese circus skills, Congolese rumba to Tanzanian drumming, this festival rejoices in diversity.

Aiming to raise the profile of the diversity of Cambridge's culture, the Heart of the World Festival began in 2006 as a collaboration between promoters and Cambridge venues, with Arts Council funding. In its first year, the festival focused on the cultures of South Africa, India, West Africa and New Orleans. Venues across the city held talks, exhibited films, art and photography displays, offered children's workshops and opened the doors to many artists famous on the world music scene. Previous headline acts have included Ladysmith Black Mambazo, Malian singer Salif Keita and Kaushiki Chakrabarty from India. A crowd of Tibetan Monks have even performed a 'mandala' – a historic Buddhist ceremony – in the unlikely but nonetheless impressive surroundings of King's College.

Since its inception, the festival has gone from strength to strength and is now firmly established as one of Cambridge's most colourful and exciting summertime events. People from far and wide head to the city for this fortnight of cultural exploration. This year's programme, filled to the brim with music, films, exhibitions, performances and club nights, is sure to impress once again.

2010's Heart of the World Festival kicked off last weekend on Parker's Piece but Cambridge will continue to come alive with music and events across the whole city.

One of the festival's many highlights includes a performance from Jassi Siddhu, a name synonymous with the increasing popularity of Bhangra music, at the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Monday.

Other stand-out musical performances include Koby Israelite Band and Gipsydalia, bringing their blend of gypsy funk and accordion rock to The Junction tonight. Ghanaian acoustic trance act Shango will be gracing the stage with their colourful and energetic show on Friday, July 23.

Live music is far from all that is on offer from the Heart of the World Festival. The Fountain on Regent Street will be transformed into a global dance floor tomorrow, while Anglia Ruskin University hosts language taster sessions and harmonica workshops today and Saturday respectively. Hamba Lulu sees Tanzanian song and dance at Stapleford Church, also on Saturday, combined with elements of the English choral tradition.

The cinematic highlight of the festival comes in the form of a fascinating documentary on the French/Spanish band Manu Chao as they tour South America. Although less well-known in English speaking countries, Manu Chao is one of the biggest selling artists in the world, using the French, Spanish, Arabic, Galician, Portuguese, English, Italian, and Wolof languages interchangeably. Manu Chao Gira Mundo Tour will be shown on Wednesday, July 21, at Alliance Francaise, 60 Hills Road, Cambridge.

Cambridge's Heart of the World Festival promises a fantastic celebration of culture from every corner of the earth. Expect a wealth of sounds, smells, sights and colours from across the globe to broaden your view of cultural diversity.

Concert is a sell-out

Spend summer in the garden

with Bard's favourite players

ALL tickets have been sold for Westlife's concert at Newmarket racecourse next month.

Their show, on Friday, August 13, is the first sell-out of this year's Newmarket Nights series of seven pop shows after evening race meetings.

Racecourse chiefs are also predicting a capacity crowd of around 20,000 tomorrow when Simply Red is due to perform for the second year.

Only 500 tickets for the grandstand and paddock enclosure remained. The premier and garden enclosure are sold out.

Tickets are also nearly sold out for the appearance by Madness on Friday, August 6.

Only a small number of top price premier enclosure tickets are available. The two other enclosures are already sold out.

The previous appearance by Madness resulted in record amounts spent in the bars and restaurants.

Tickets for the garden enclosure are sold out for Razorlight's night on Friday, July 23, and tickets are still available for James Morrison's show on Friday, July 30.

Gemma Hussey, racecourse marketing manager, said: "Advance sales have continued at a phenomenal rate for the five remaining Newmarket Nights and the only question now is whether it will be three complete sell-outs or whether Razorlight sales will take off over the next 10 days and make it four."

Tickets can be booked by visiting www.newmarketracecourses.co.uk or by calling 0844 579 3010.

It's a Shakespeare-filled summer in Cambridge this year, with outdoor performances of some of the playwright's greatest works.

First up, six university college gardens have been transformed into magical stages for two comedies and a tragedy, which run until July 31.

The central gardens of Downing College will be taken over by the King of Navarre and his seemingly chaste noble companions in fast-paced comedy, Love's Labour's Lost.

The battle of the sexes continues over at St John's College as Petruchio and Kate pit their wits against each other in The Taming Of The Shrew in the stunning Scholar's Garden.

A tale far less whimsical in its nature is presented in the atmospheric amphitheatre of Robinson College.

Hamlet, perhaps Shakespeare's most enduring play, sees the young protagonist on a quest for the truth behind the death of his father.

Summer with the Bard: in gardens across Cambridge.

CP

August continues in a similar vein, as Henry V faces unrest, invasion and nothing but disdain from his people in the gripping drama in the Fellow's Garden at King's College, set in the early part of the 15th century from August 2-21.

Comedy and romance is brought to Trinity College Gardens by the fantastically capricious As You Like It (August 2-21), while Twelfth Night sees further tales of lustful mistaken identity (August 2-28) at Robinson College Gardens.

Every Saturday of the eight-week period includes a special charity matinee performance, with proceeds going to the children's hospice in Milton, as well as St John's Hospice on the Wirral.

Cambridge Shakespeare Festival, July 12-Aug 28 at Cambridge University College Gardens. Tickets £14 (£10 concessions) and shows start at 7.30pm. Contact (01223) 357851/www.cambridgeshakespeare.com

THERE'S no need to trek to London's South Bank as a slice of Shakespeare's Globe Theatre comes to Cambridge, courtesy of Cambridge Arts Theatre.

The internationally-renowned Shakespeare's Globe On Tour will perform an exciting double bill of high-energy, open-air versions of the Bard's finest plays in The Master's Garden of Emmanuel College.

The Comedy of Errors sees a pair of estranged twins and a pair of twin servants thrown into a city with a reputation for sorcery, and theatrical chaos ensues in this fast, delightfully anarchic play, from July 13-18.

And who can resist the fun and frolics of A Midsummer Night's Dream (August 10-15), with its tales of intertwined love and lust, and a sprinkling of fairy dust.

Shakespeare's Globe, Emmanuel College, July 13-Aug 15. Tickets are £15. Call the Cambridge Arts Theatre box office on (01223)

CHAPTERHOUSE Theatre Company is bringing its own take on Shakespeare's comedies to Milton Country Park in August.

The professional touring theatre company performs at more than 130 locations around the UK as part of its garden theatre season.

First to take to the boards is Much Ado About Nothing (August 3 at 7pm). Audiences can enjoy Shakespeare at his merry best as they soak up the summer sunshine with family and friends and enjoy this light-hearted love story.

The fantasy continues on August 20 at 6.30pm as Chapterhouse perform A Midsummer Night's Dream – a tale perfect for balmy summer evenings in the calm surroundings of the country park.

Prepare to be whisked away into the magical Athenian forest as this tale is brought alive with magnificent costumes and sets, plus a wonderful musical score.

A FREE performance of Shakespeare's

Macbeth will be staged in Newmarket's Memorial Hall Gardens on Wednesday, July 28.

The show, which will include puppets for the witches, is being staged by the Saffron Walden-based Pantaloons theatre company.

The company's production of Romeo and Juliet last summer was praised by The Sunday Times and led to an interview on Radio 2 with film director Ken Russell.

The curse of the Scottish play, as it is referred to by actors, has already struck in rehearsals when Lady Macbeth was taken to hospital with appendicitis and the other four members of the cast had food poisoning.

The performance will include contemporary references and audience participation.

Company directors Caitlin Storey, from Saffron Walden, and Mark Hayward, from Ipswich, gave up lucrative careers in London to follow their dreams of making theatre accessible to everyone. They said the show, which starts at 6pm, would be suitable for all ages.

The big film

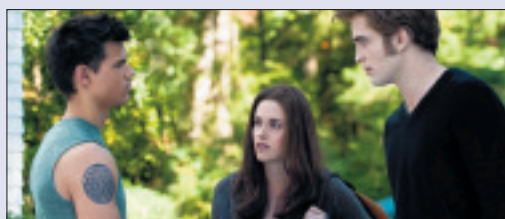

THE TWILIGHT SAGA: ECLIPSE (12A, 123 mins) Action. Kristen Stewart, Robert Pattinson, Taylor Lautner, Billy Burke, Xavier Samuel, Bryce Dallas Howard, Peter Facinelli, Elizabeth Reaser, Ashley Greene, Jackson Rathbone, Kellan Lutz, Nikki Reed, Dakota Fanning. Director: David Slade.

THE tug-of-war for the affections of Bella Swan (Kristen Stewart) reaches a crucial juncture in the latest film based on Stephenie Meyer's teen romances.

In the same way that the film version of Harry Potter And The Prisoner Of Azkaban was the darkest and most satisfying instalment of its series, this third helping of brooding vampires and snarling werewolves is the most entertaining to date.

Director David Slade deserves some of the credit, cranking up the tension between suitors Edward and Jacob against a backdrop of impending war between rival bloodsucking factions. The cast have also settled into their iconic roles and Pattinson, especially, runs the gamut of emotions as his fanged hunk risks losing his soul-mate.

Screenwriter Melissa Rosenberg retains most of Meyer's book, including a sexually charged stand-off in a tent. Graduation approaches for Bella, and the teen must choose between Edward (Pattinson), the vampire who won her heart, and Jacob (Lautner), the best friend who has snuck into her affections.

Rejection for one could potentially ignite the ancient rivalry between the lycans and the bloodsuckers. Meanwhile, Victoria (Howard) returns to Forks, Washington, to kill Bella in revenge for Edward's slaying of her lover. The avenger brings with her a new race of vampires with phenomenal strength, led by local boy Riley (Samuel), and only the combined forces of sworn enemies, the Cullens and the Blacks, can stop these ferocious, blood-crazed predators.

Edward's family members, Dr Carlisle (Facinelli), Esme (Reaser), Alice (Greene), Jasper (Rathbone), Emmett (Lutz) and Rosalie (Reed), prepare for battle.

This fast-paced romp should delight ardent fans and draw in newcomers with briskly edited action sequences.

The ménage à trois generates the film's dramatic momentum, leading to tears and tantrums as the enormity of the situation becomes apparent.

Eclipse neatly sets the scene for the heartache of the final film, Breaking Dawn, scheduled for release in two parts in 2011 and 2012.

Enjoy scent-sationally fragrant summer days

Scent comes into its own when you're sitting outside on a balmy summer evening, taking in all the delicious fragrances the garden has to offer.

I have two neighbours to thank for the sweet scent of mock orange which fills the air in my own garden – the fragrance wafting quite a distance from where these flowering shrubs are actually planted.

There are fragrant plants for every garden throughout the year, from winter-flowering jasmine and mahonia to hyacinths, scented narcissus and viburnum in the spring, and summer-flowering lavender, rosemary, honeysuckle, roses, evening primrose, dianthus, nicotiana and stocks.

It's worth noting that the most strongly scented flowers are often white, or insignificant in appearance, but make their presence felt when you sniff the air.

While flowers tend to have sweet, heady perfumes, leaf scents tend to be spicy.

by Hannah Stephenson

Many plants with scented foliage need gentle stroking or pinching to release their perfume. It's likely that the scents evolved as a deterrent to insect pests, but gardeners love them.

New research from PlantforLife, an advice resource created by the Horticultural Trades Association, reveals 63 per cent of people in the UK purchase floral and herbal scented products to enhance their health and well-being yet, when asked, just 32 per cent realised the plants they grow in the garden can provide the same effects.

To address this lack of awareness and promote the benefits floral and herbal scents provide, PlantforLife has joined forces with aromacologist, Daniele Ryman, and celebrity plantsman Chris Collins, to show people how to give their garden a simple and healthy-scented makeover.

"Although colour is an important part of any outdoor space, introducing different scents into your garden is essential to creating your perfect outdoor haven," says Chris. "Having beautifully scented plants outside not only means you can reap the health benefits, but planting a scented garden is a great way to help the environment and attract wildlife, like bees, back into your garden."

Roses are believed to have a calming fragrance which can help ease nerves.

"When planting roses, consider the look and feel of what you would like to achieve, from creating excellent focal points to framing certain areas of your garden," he adds.

Lavender is well known for relieving stress, helping relaxation and aiding sleep. It is best planted in numbers, makes an ideal low hedge in the traditional cottage garden and doesn't need really rich soil. However, it will need plenty of sun.

Lily-of-the-valley, whose scent helps combat tiredness, only grows to 45cm and is ideally planted in moist shade under trees to make an effective ground cover.

The Greeks used the herb rosemary to improve their concentration, but it is also known to be an energiser, and will thrive in sandy soil in a sunny position. Water it well in its first season and after that it should become reasonably drought-resistant.

Scented climbers can also add more atmosphere and romance to a garden, whether cottage or modern in style. Among the most popular climbing plants with fragrant blooms are Clematis montana var. rubens 'Elizabeth', 'Jasminum officinale' and 'Wisteria floribunda'.

Fragrance is at its highest when it's calm, so place scented plants in a sheltered spot away from the wind. Indeed, perfume is best captured on a patio, so make sure your pots or nearby beds are awash with a range of fragrant blooms to make the most of those delicious scents in the summer months.

BEST OF THE BUNCH

Astilbe

This favourite perennial brings colour and texture to the semi-shaded border with its feathery plumes – in colours ranging from creamy-white through lilac and pink to red – rising above neat mounds of deeply cut foliage in summer.

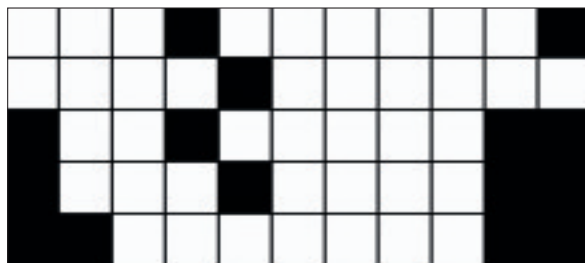

The wispy plumes can also be left for winter interest. Astilbes, however, do need moist, lightly shaded soil to thrive – they are ideally planted in woodland locations between shrubs or by a pond – and can make good groundcover plants too. While most like boggy ground, A. chinensis 'Pumila' and A. 'Superba' can cope with drier soils and can tolerate sun, but you'll need to keep the ground moist by mulching. They make good companions planted between shade-loving foliage plants such as hostas and Rodgersias.

Lost letters 22

In each of these puzzles a famous or popular quotation fills the grid. The individual letters remain in their correct column, but have fallen out and are out of order. Reinsert them in the correct order to find the answer. Any punctuation is given in its own square.

This quotation is by Dorothy Parker.

Astra sales lift new car outlook

NEW car sales sped ahead again last month – rising 10.8 per cent compared with June 2009, it was announced this week.

A rise of more than 25 per cent in fleet sales helped new registrations to total 195,226 in June 2010, the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) said.

The June figure took the January-June 2010 new-car total to 1,108,662 – a 19.9 per cent rise on the first half of last year when the motor industry was deep in recession.

Performing well: The new Vauxhall Astra.

SMMT chief executive Paul Everitt said: "The new car market continued to perform above

Kia's all-new Sportage goes on sale on August 1

THE all-new Kia Sportage crossover, one of the stars of the 2010 Geneva Motor Show, is to go on sale in the UK earlier than expected, on 1 August, with a high specification Sportage First Edition version.

The full line-up of the all-new Sportage, including two wheel drive, petrol and additional diesel versions, will go on sale in the UK from November, however early production of RHD all-wheel-drive 2.0-litre diesel models means that eager British customers will not have to wait long to get into Kia's latest stunningly designed model.

The Sportage First Edition is a unique version that comes complete with all-wheel drive, a choice of manual or automatic transmissions and an efficient common-rail turbodiesel engine. The 2.0-litre CRDi engine emits just 156g/km CO2 and achieves a combined cycle economy of 47.1 mpg – an impressive 31g/km less and 7.3mpg more respectively than the outgoing model.

Available in a choice of five colours – including the striking Techno Orange – the First Edition comes as standard with a comprehensive high-end specification including a full leather interior, dual zone climate control, automatic rain-sensing wipers, LED daytime running lights and 18-inch alloy wheels.

Designed by Peter Schreyer to combine the stance and attitude of a compact SUV but with a sleek, urban design and have greener credentials, Kia's all-new Sportage is designed to meet the requirements of young families – or the young at heart – who lead busy, primarily urban-centric, lifestyles. Final development of the Sportage's chassis in the UK has ensured that the ride and handling are optimised for British road conditions.

Full details on the all-new

Meeting the requirements of young families: The all-new Kia Sportage.

Sportage First Edition will be available on July 20.

Jarvis gets a lucky run

OLIVER Jarvis had his best result of the season in the German Touring Car (DTM) Championship, finishing fourth at the Norisring. The Burwell driver qualified in sixth but produced a solid performance in his current-generation Audi A4.

And the bad luck that has plagued much of his season was, thankfully, absent with the only drama coming right at the start when he had to take evasive action to avoid running into the back of Martin Tomczyk, who had stalled.

Tigers away

MILDENHALL Fen Tigers resume their National League campaign at Buxton Hitmen on Sunday. Their next home game is against the same opposition on August 1.

On top of the world: Chris Haird with the fruits of his efforts.

Picture: Gary Malkin (CP)

Haird gets it right to be a world beater

CHRIS Haird is on top of the world after winning the National Hot Rod World Championship with a scintillating display of driving at Foxhall Stadium, Ipswich.

The Newmarket driver qualified for the final after strong performances in 17 races held across England, Northern Ireland and Ireland throughout the year.

Amazingly, his victory in the final was his first of the campaign.

"I produced my best when it really mattered," said the 26-year-old racer who competes in a modified Vauxhall Tigra.

"I'd been consistent all season."

That consistency meant he won the points championship which determined which drivers qualified for the final showdown in Ipswich. He was top of the leaderboard last season as well, but this year he did even better.

Having competed in Hot Rod racing for eight years, Haird said the title had been a long time coming. "It was about time I won it," he said.

Haird made a good start to the 75-lap race. Having qualified in third, he quickly got past four-time world champion Carl Broadley. But a crash at the back of the field caused the race to be restarted.

Haird struggled to make a clean get away at the restart, but a second crash resulted in Broadley picking up a puncture.

It left the way clear for Haird to take the lead and he held on to it all the way to the chequered flag.

"I could barely breathe during the last two laps," he said. "It was a great feeling to win it."

Haird now has his sights on adding the British and European titles to his collection with both events due to take place later this year.

Goosen can't stop slide

HALF-CENTURIES from Henry James and Glen Goosen were not enough for Burwell, who were beaten by Clacton in the Gibbs Denley East Anglian Premier League.

After scoring 335 for 6 against the seaisiders in their first game of the season, Burwell again put a decent score – 263 for 8 – on the board.

Goosen hit 83 and James 54, although Daniel Jones (26) and Francois Bester (21) were the only other players to really contribute.

But an 85-run opening partnership put Burwell on the back foot and despite Grant Flower taking 3 for 58 the hosts reached 267 for 5 in the 53rd over.

■ Steve Lankester and Ben Shepperson destroyed Ipswich & East Suffolk with five-wicket hauls to help Mildenhall to an eight-wicket triumph in Division One of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship.

The visitors were skittled for 130 thanks to Lankester (5 for 16) and Shepperson (5 for 47) and Mildenhall raced to 133 for 2 in 23 overs (Ziaf Kulasi 50, Andy Squire 45 not out).

Tim Catley struck an unbeaten 72 and shared three 50-plus partnerships as Exning defeated Maldon by seven wickets.

Coming in at No 3, the batsman put on 56 with Sam Readman (31), added 83 with Craig Estlea (54) and racked up an unbroken 66-run stand with David Atkinson (44 not out).

MILDENHALL have completed the Suffolk Cup treble for the fourth time in eight years. After mopping up the under-15 and under-13 titles, they completed the clean sweep when the under-11s beat Easton.

Set an imposing 264 after Craig Moss took 2 for 12 and Matt Allen 1 for 11, Mildenhall went after the bowling from the start with Alfie Marton and Matt Heywood giving them a good start. However, second pair Craig Moss and Jack Palmer found the going harder and as the second-string Easton bowlers got on top, Mildenhall fell behind the asking rate. However, Charles Wilkens and Jack Morley rebuilt the innings as the strain got to their rivals, who put down four catches, and final duo, skipper Matt Allen and Dominic Palmer, eased the side home.

CP

That all led to Exning successfully reaching 208 for 3 after the visitors had been restricted to 203 for 8.

Simon Lawson and his son Ollie helped complete an excellent day for the club and a miserable one for their Essex rivals as Exning II triumphed at Maldon II in Division Four.

They bowled 30 overs in tandem and Simon Lawson picked up 3 for 31 and Ollie 2 for 66 as the hosts got to 194 for 7.

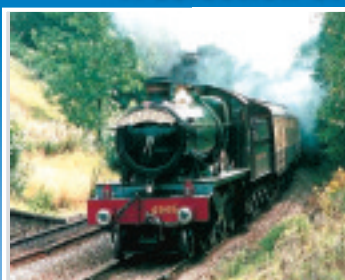

Exning skipper Peter Woods was unfortunately run out for 73, but David Monk (36 not out) and Ben Readman (20 not out) took the away side to 195 for 3.

In Division Three, Colin Thomson and Graham Ford were undefeated on 60 and 57 respectively as Worlington (144 for 1) cruised to a nine-wicket win over Yoxford (143), who were wrecked by Daren Hayward's 3 for 6.

Elsewhere, Mildenhall II beat Kelvedon & Feering by two wickets after lurching to 73 for 5 before Alex Reynolds, Eddie Finnis (both 31), Andy Young (29) and Jamie Allen (22 not out) guided them home.

>> Racing: The July Festival at Newmarket

He's a Starspangled stunner. . .

STARSPANGLED BANNER became the 11th horse to complete the Golden Jubilee-Darley July Cup double, blazing a trail under Johnny Murtagh at Newmarket.

The Australian import showed tremendous speed to score at Royal Ascot and again went from the front as the 2-1 favourite for a neck success over Equiano.

Aidan O'Brien's four-year-old displayed a granite will to win through the final quarter-mile to get the better of Barry Hills' King's Stand winner.

Although delighted with the outcome, Murtagh was less impressed with the decision of the stewards to suspend him for six days (July 23-28 inclusive), ruling him out of the King George VI And Queen Elizabeth Stakes and the first two days of Glorious Goodwood.

O'Brien said: "In his last piece of work he covered four furlongs in 45 seconds - he is the most incredible horse."

"The plan was for him to return to Australia after Ascot in time for the covering season, but everyone agreed to bring him here."

O'Brien later revealed Starspangledbanner would continue his racing career in

A real Star: Johnny Murtagh and Starspangledbanner after their stunning win in the Darley July Cup

Britain for this season at least. Punters placed their faith in Frankie Dettori and Mark Johnston as St Moritz (4-1) became the first successful favourite in the 32Red Trophy since 2003.

The four-year-old had become an obvious candidate in a race better known as the Bunbury Cup after a fine third in the Royal Hunt Cup and he stayed on best up the hill.

And Gay Kelleway believes she has a filly with a great future as her newcomer Catfish, ignored in the betting at 40-1, netted the Earl of Euston EBF Maiden and may now head to Deauville.

CONNECTIONS of Sans Frontieres have the pleasant task of choosing another good race after the four-year-old put his problems behind him with victory in the Princess of Wales's Stakes at Newmarket. It was only the Galileo colt's second win from seven starts and his first since his debut in September 2008.

Jeremy Nosedá's charge had missed the remainder of his three-year-old career through injury after finishing third in the Dante Stakes at York in May 2009.

He had shown little form in his first two starts this term, but there were grounds for optimism after he ran fourth in the Hardwicke Stakes at Royal Ascot and he finally came good in Thursday's Group Two feature.

Barry Simpson, racing manager to owner Sir Robert Ogden, said: "He ran well at Ascot and that was the sign we were looking for. I thought if he finished third or fourth again I'd have been happy with that and the Ebor would have been a possibility. Of course, those plans are out of the window now."

Michael Bell is keeping Sariska under wraps until the rains come ahead of a crack at the Qatar Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe. The star filly's end-of-season campaign will be geared round Longchamp's Group One showpiece in October.

She has run just twice so far this term, winning the Middleton Stakes at York in May and finishing second to Fame And Glory in the Coronation Cup at Epsom in June.

The going for both races was far from ideal and Bell said: "She's very well, she's cantering, but we are loathe to run her on fast ground again. We don't want to run her on good to firm ground again, certainly in the short term."

San Frontieres plans have gone 'out the window'

Chris Wall can enjoy the rest of the year with Premio Loco after his stable star landed a Group Two on home soil at Ascot on Saturday.

That was the prime objective and the six-year-old courageously delivered the goods in the totosport.com Summer Mile. Wall said: "He did it very nicely. They had to be brave to go through the gap, and he was going away from them at the finish. It was a good effort."

Bookmakers are divided on the market for the Darley Irish Oaks after Snow Fairy was one of four supplementary entries for the fillies' Classic at the Curragh on Sunday. Trained by Ed Dunlop, Snow Fairy justified the late entry fee for the Epsom equivalent when beating Meeznah by a neck. David Lanigan's charge was also among 17 possibles at the five-day confirmation stage. Coral cannot split the two and French raider Rosanara, and make them 100-30 co-favourites.

The Newmarket Nights series resumes on Friday with Simply Red in concert after the racing, which starts at 5.50pm. Saturday's meeting, which features the Plantation Stud Stakes, starts at 2pm.

>> Golf: CAGU Seniors

Nerveless Fleming hangs on

HAMISH Fleming mastered the testing conditions at Girton and overcame a late wobble to win the Cambridgeshire Area Golf Union Seniors Championship.

The incoming county secretary, a member of The Links, Newmarket, coped well with the strong breeze, fast-running greens and challenging pin positions and held his nerve at the finish to win by one shot to claim his maiden seniors championship.

Fleming made a bright start as he birdied the seventh and eighth holes to complete the front nine in just 34 shots.

He was two ahead of Brendan Barry, who birdied three of the first five holes, and defending champion Neil Hughes, both of Gog Magog. Robert Chamberlain, of Lakeside Lodge, and Larry Barnes, from Brampton, were next down the leaderboard on 37. However, Fleming struggled on the back nine with three bogeys and a double bogey.

But four solid pars rescued his round and he came home in 74 to record a one-shot win over Chamberlain. Barry was third with 76.

"I was greatly surprised to win," said Fleming. "I thought the nerves were getting to me as it was all going pear-shaped."

"But I made a good up and down on the (par-four) 15th which restored my confidence. I knew then I needed just three more pars to maintain my lead."

"I hope to challenge for the next few years. We were a bit shorter on numbers this year, so I hope next year more senior Cambridgeshire

Sands quick to mark debut with a goal

JOHN Sands was among the scorers as Cambridge City beat Newmarket Town 3-0 in their pre-season friendly at the Town Ground on Tuesday. Sands, signed from Mildenhall earlier this month, scored the second goal soon after half time. Another new signing, Craig Hammond, and trialist Declan Rogers scored the other goals.

Newmarket and Mildenhall start their FA Cup campaigns on August 14, the Jockeys at home to Yaxley in an extra-preliminary round on the path to a possible meeting with AFC Sudbury.
